MODULE 5.2 AVOIDING FORECLOSURE/ RETENTION OPTIONS

MODULE INTRODUCTION

MODULE INTRODUCTION

Recall that Module 5.1 provided an overview of foreclosure, regulatory measures to protect consumers, and where counselors can go to find more information on available loss mitigation/retention programs and resources. In this module, we move on to a discussion of retention options.

To fully support clients who are struggling with mortgage payments, foreclosure counselors regularly review retention strategies and often request repayment plans, forbearance agreements, loan modifications, or other loss mitigation options. In order to determine which option is best suited for each client, counselors must be familiar with mortgage servicing processes and loss mitigation requests.

In this module, you'll learn about various retention strategies for clients to remain in their homes, as well as mortgage default scams and how to report them. In Module 5.3, you'll learn about disposition strategies and how to help clients transition away from their home.

LESSON OBJECTIVES

By the end of this module, you'll be able to:

- 1. Apply knowledge of programs and options for loan modification, refinance, or principal reduction when assessing a client's circumstances for foreclosure prevention options.
- 2. Demonstrate knowledge of the necessary forms and requirements for a mortgage lender's loss mitigation package.
- 3. Evaluate a client's information to better discuss appropriate loss mitigation options for a client whose loan is insured by FHA.
- 4. Apply knowledge of mortgage default scams to describe ways to avoid these scams and where to report being a scam victim.

MODIFYING OR REFINANCING YOUR MORTGAGE TO REMAIN IN THE HOME

FORECLOSURE PREVENTION OPTIONS

In this module, you'll observe how foreclosure counselors help clients seeking outside assistance to prevent foreclosure on their homes. To ensure counselors share accurate information, they should be familiar with programs and initiatives that provide assistance to homeowners facing foreclosure.

GSE loan or mortgage

A government-sponsored enterprise, or GSE, is a financial services entity created by Congress. A GSE loan or mortgage refers to a mortgage owned by Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac.

In 2009, the federal government launched Making Home

Affordable, or MHA, an initiative to assist struggling borrowers. Although it no longer accepts applications, the MHA program continues to provide guidance about options for mortgage assistance. The program helped set standards for permanent replacements to staple components like the Home Affordable Modification Program, or HAMP, and the Home Affordable Refinance Program, or HARP.

Government agencies such as the Federal Housing Finance Agency, or FHFA, encouraged similar products through government-sponsored enterprises, or GSEs. For example, Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac offer high loan-to-value (LTV) streamlined refinance options modeling HARP, which was designed to assist homeowners who were current on mortgage payments but unable to secure traditional refinancing due to declining home value.

Under the MHA HAMP, homeowners who modified mortgages may be in need of additional assistance. Since the expiration of MHA programs, the GSEs offer Flex Modification options for conventional borrowers. Let's take a look at the program's key features.

Fannie Mae Flex Modification and Freddie Mac Flex Modification®

Overview: The Flex Modification leverages Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac Standard and Streamlined Modifications. Modifications can be applied to all mortgage loan delinquencies and to mortgage loans determined to be in imminent default.

Purpose: To provide an easier, flexible way of helping more borrowers qualify for a loan modification in a changing housing environment

Benefit: Provides eligible borrowers an option to resolve delinquency and sustain homeownership by targeting a 20% payment reduction

Key Eligibility:

Borrower must:

• Be 60 days or more delinquent and occupy the property as a primary residence

OR

• Be current or less than 60 days delinquent, occupy the property as a primary residence, and be in imminent default

AND

- Submit a Borrower Response Package (BRP), which includes:
  - Completed and signed Form 710, Uniform Borrower Assistance Form
  - Eligible hardship documentation
  - Documentation to verify stable income to support a monthly payment
  - Imminent default hardship documentation, for borrowers less than 60 days delinquent

Restrictions based on:

Mortgage loan:

- Must be owned by Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac to qualify for respective program
- Must have originated at least 12 months prior to loan modification request
- Must not have been modified three or more times previously, regardless of the loan modification program or dates of prior modifications

Primary residence:

• If investment property, must be more than 60 days delinquent

*Streamlined eligibility exceptions may apply to certain borrowers.

• No borrower documentation is required for borrowers 90 days delinquent or more.

Loss mitigation options are also available to borrowers with mortgages insured or guaranteed by FHA, VA, or USDA. Specific options for FHA mortgages will be discussed later in this module. Borrowers with these mortgages should reach out to their servicers to discuss their options. If borrowers need assistance in negotiating with their servicer or need to escalate an issue, they can contact FHA, VA, or USDA for further assistance.

Manufactured Home Retention Options

Manufactured home loans are typically difficult to refinance or modify unless they are mortgaged as real property. Assuming the borrower qualifies, manufactured home mortgage loans are typically eligible for refinance or modification through the relevant conventional or government-insured loss mitigation programs described in this module.

The FHA Title I Manufactured Home Loan described in Module 4.1 can be used to refinance an existing chattel or personal manufactured home loan for qualified borrowers. Generally, loss mitigation programs are not offered by lenders for chattel or personal property loans secured by a manufactured home, though some lenders may negotiate loan terms as part of the collections process.

Personal and chattel loan borrowers should contact their lender to discuss repayment options as soon as it becomes apparent that they may miss a loan payment. Depending on the amount owed, the lender may be willing to defer payments or offer a pay-off amount to bring the loan current. Housing counselors should refer clients who are vulnerable to manufactured home repossession to legal aid providers who can help determine if bankruptcy could offer protection against repossession.

Financially vulnerable manufactured-home owners on leased land must also maintain the lease payments for the lot in order to avoid eviction.

KNOWLEDGE CHECK 1
Generally, modification options offer relief to homeowners, while refinance options target borrowers
A. in default; in good standing
B. in good standing; in default

SUBMITTING A LOSS MITIGATION PACKAGE

In Module 5.1, you met Craig, a client at risk of foreclosure. In this module, Craig returns to meet with his foreclosure counselor, Carmen. Recall the following circumstances about Craig's situation from the previous counseling session.

Let's sit in on their second counseling session, which occurs two weeks after the first one.

CARMEN. It's good to see you again, Craig. Have you heard from the unemployment assistance programs to which you applied?

CRAIG. No, not yet. I do have news, though. I got a job. It is one that I had interviewed for a month ago. It pays less than my old job, but it will still help with my request for assistance from my lender, right?

CARMEN. That's great news. Yes, it will. If you were unemployed, your servicer might have offered you another workout option. Because you are now employed, a forbearance or repayment plan doesn't seem to be the best option.

Since you have a new job, but your new income will be lower, we should request a modification. It wasn't appropriate when you were unemployed, but it is now. We can show them what your budget will be with your new income and see if they will consider modifying the mortgage terms and adding the past due amount into the mortgage.

Recall from Module 5.1 the steps to submit a loss mitigation package.

Loss Mitigation Submission Process

- 1. Determine reason client is behind on mortgage payments.
- 2. Determine if homeowner wants to remain in the home (retention) or transition out of the home (disposition).
- 3. Determine the type of mortgage (e.g., conventional, FHA, VA, or USDA; and if it is owned by Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac) to determine options and processes available through the servicer.
- 4. Gather required financial documentation and determine affordability.
- 5. Complete the necessary forms to request the loss mitigation option.
- 6. Submit the request to the servicer.
- 7. Respond to additional requests for information.
- 8. If request is approved, discuss if it is affordable. If it is denied, determine why. Escalate, if necessary.

Carmen and Craig have now completed steps 1–5 of the process and will continue with the additional steps.

DOCUMENTATION FOR LOSS MITIGATION REQUESTS

CARMEN. Let's start the process of applying for assistance. With new programs and options, the loss mitigation request process is easier and more transparent than it used to be. We can check with your servicer, City Second Bank, to see if they provide any specific options.

CRAIG. Okay.

CARMEN. We have to gather the required financial documentation. I know you have some of this already.

Financial Documentation

Though specific requirements will vary based on servicers and programs, clients generally need to submit the following financial documents with their application:

- Monthly mortgage statement
- Information about other mortgages on the home, if applicable
- Two most recent pay stubs for all household members contributing toward the mortgage payment
- Last two years of tax returns
- The most recent quarterly or year-to-date profit and loss statement, if selfemployed
- Documentation of income from other sources, such as alimony, child support, social security, etc.
- Two most recent bank statements
- A utility bill showing homeowner name and property address
- Unemployment insurance letter, if applicable
- Account balances and minimum monthly payments due on all credit cards
- Information about savings and other assets
- A letter describing any circumstances that caused reduced income or increased expenses, such as job loss, divorce, illness, etc. (not always required but often useful)

CRAIG. Okay. I have most of it, but I'll make sure everything is current.

CARMEN. Next, we have some forms to complete. Let's look at the first one, the Request for Mortgage Assistance, or RMA form.

An RMA, like the following Fannie Mae 710 form, must be completed to be considered for mortgage loan modification options. The information presented is for educational purposes, as format and branding may vary from servicer to servicer. Specific details and certifications required will depend on the servicer.

CRAIG. So this is the application? It's very thorough.

CARMEN. This is the application your servicer uses. Other borrowers may see a different form, but all servicers require similar information. Another requirement for the application is submitting the 4506-C form, which gives your servicer permission to look at your most recent tax returns. The 4506-C is a one-page form that asks for a few pieces of information and a signature.

CRAIG. If I send them my tax returns though, why do they need to request them from the IRS?

CARMEN. Good question. It's mainly so servicers can verify that fraudulent returns aren't sent in with modification requests. Unfortunately, this has happened a lot in the past. Once these forms are complete and you have gathered all the financial documentation, we can submit the request to City Second Bank. Let's try to do this as soon as possible.

CRAIG. Okay. Thank you for your help. I'll have it all for you by the end of next week.

The next step in the process will be to submit the request to the servicer and escalate the case if necessary after a decision is made. Cases are typically escalated for one of two reasons: the workout request is denied or the workout offered is unaffordable. Denials occur when the client does not have enough income, the LTV ratio is too high, the application is missing information, or the servicer wants updated financial information.

If the client is offered a workout that is unaffordable, the case should be escalated to ensure the servicer is using the correct calculations. Servicers have different guidelines for escalation processes, and ultimately clients and counselors have to communicate with the servicer and go through their process to try to fix the problem.

Since the retirement of Hope Loan Port (HLP.org), the mortgage industry has adopted and implemented similar technology to meet the needs of customers on their own. In the absence of a standard technology tool, borrowers and housing counselors must be diligent in documenting all communications with servicers.

KNOWLEDGE CHECK 2

Which financial documentation should be excluded from the loan modification request?

- A. Two most recent bank statements
- B. Utility bill showing homeowner name and property address
- C. Last two years of tax returns
- D. Information on amounts paid for child care

FHA LOSS MITIGATION OPTIONS

FHA LOSS MITIGATION OPTIONS

Several workout options are available for clients with FHA-insured mortgages who are facing foreclosure. All servicers that offer FHA-insured mortgages must review retention options first, and are required to consider all options in the following order:

A Counselor, Elizabeth, and a Client, Jose

- 1. Attempt to bring the mortgage current.
- 2. Determine eligibility for Informal and Formal Forbearance Plans.
- 3. Determine eligibility for Special Forbearance Unemployment Agreement.
- 4. Determine eligibility for FHA-HAMP Loan Modification.
- 5. Consider a pre-foreclosure sale.
- 6. Consider a deed-in-lieu.

Now, let's listen in on a counseling session. Elizabeth, a foreclosure counselor, has a new client, Jose. Jose has not paid his FHA mortgage for the last two months.

ELIZABETH. Hi, Jose. How can I help you today?

Jose. Hi. I bought my home four years ago with an FHA loan, and I'm two months behind on my mortgage payments. My income hasn't changed; however, my expenses increased temporarily because my son needed surgery and then we had to replace the roof. Money just got tight. Now I need help figuring out what to do.

ELIZABETH. Okay, FHA has a number of loss mitigation options. Let's work together to see what's going on and look at the options available to you.

JOSE. Yes, I need some help. My family and I have cut down on our expenses as much as possible, but we cannot seem to catch up on the outstanding balance.

With delinquent FHA loans where the borrower doesn't have the funds on hand to bring the mortgage current, servicers must first evaluate clients for forbearance plans, or arrangements that may allow for a period of reduced or suspended payments, and provide specific terms for repayment.

FHA offers Informal Forbearance Plans, which consist of verbal arrangements lasting less than three months, and Formal Forbearance Plans, which are written agreements lasting three to six months.

A client's options will depend on circumstances, including financial evaluation and surplus income. For example, Informal and Formal Forbearance Plans are the only options available for delinquent mortgagors without verifiable losses of income or increases in living expenses.

FHA Loss Mitigation Home Retention Options

Informal/Formal Forbearance Plan

Purpose: To assist borrowers who are temporarily struggling to make mortgage payments

Benefit: Allows for a period of reduced or suspended payments and may provide specific terms for repayment, depending on the circumstances. Lenders must consider these steps before proceeding with other options.

Key Eligibility

Borrower must:

- Occupy home as primary residence
- Demonstrate financial hardship
- Demonstrate income
- Demonstrate surplus income over minimum limit (85% of surplus income must be sufficient to bring the mortgage current within 6 months)

Note: Informal or Formal Forbearance Plans are the only options available for delinquent mortgagors without verifiable losses of income or increases in living expenses.

Special Forbearance - Unemployment Agreement

Purpose: To assist unemployed borrowers

Benefit: Suspends and/or reduces the current monthly mortgage payment, ensuring that forbearance installments are based on the borrower's ability to pay. If the borrower's circumstances change, the servicer can reevaluate and adjust the payment. The agreement will include an expiration date, though it can be revised or terminated earlier due to a change in financial circumstances. Prior to expiration, the borrower will be evaluated for an additional forbearance period or a permanent loss mitigation option.

Key Eligibility

Restrictions based on:

- Mortgage delinquency (at least three months delinquent, or more than 61 days)
- Maximum arrearage (not to exceed 12 months of PITI)
- State of property (not in foreclosure or foreclosure actions suspended)

Borrower must:

- Have verified unemployment status, leading to loss of income or increase in living expenses
- Occupy home as primary residence

FHA-HAMP Loan Modification

Effective March 1, 2017, the traditional FHA Loan Modification Option was eliminated from HUD's Loss Mitigation Waterfall. All FHA borrowers will be assessed for FHA-HAMP eligibility. Review the FHA Single Family Housing Policy Handbook 4000.1 for more information.

Purpose: To assist borrowers who are struggling to make mortgage payments because they are no longer affordable and do not qualify for other FHA options

Benefit: Allows the mortgage to be reinstated by establishing an affordable monthly payment and/or through a partial claim

Key Eligibility

Restrictions based on:

- Mortgage delinquency (in default or imminent default. Loan can be in foreclosure at time of FHA HAMP review but not at the time modification documents are executed.)
- Loan origination date (at least 12 months elapsed)
- Mortgage payments paid (at least four payments)
- Previous receipt of an FHA-HAMP Loan Modification (cannot be within previous 24 months)
- Partial Claim amount (cannot exceed 30% of unpaid principal balance)

Borrower must:

- Demonstrate verifiable loss of income or increase in living expenses
- Submit hardship affidavits
- Be ineligible for other FHA workout options
- Occupy home as primary residence
- Demonstrate continuous income (at least one borrower)
- Show surplus income insufficient to cure arrears in six months
- Successfully complete a Trial Payment Plan based on the FHA-HAMP monthly mortgage payment amount

Partial Claims: Defers some principal so monthly payments are affordable. Payment is not required until the maturity of the FHA-HAMP mortgage, the sale of the property, or the payoff or non-FHA refinancing of the mortgage; and no interest is charged.

Standalone Partial Claim

Offered if all the following criteria are met:

- Current interest rate is at or below market rate
- Affordable mortgage payment cannot be achieved by re-amortizing the mortgage for 360 months at market rate
- Borrower meets all requirements of the FHA-HAMP Option
- Borrower is three months past due (61 days or more)

Combination of FHA-HAMP Loan Modification and FHA-HAMP Partial Claim

Used to establish an affordable monthly payment and provide an amount to cover:

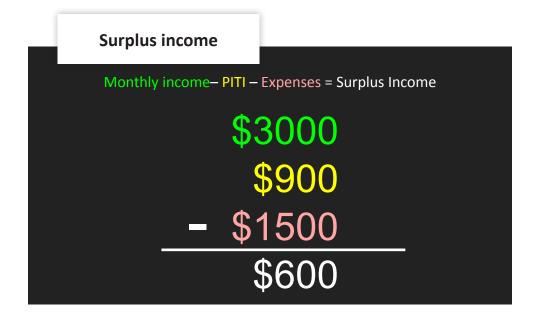

- Arrearages
- Legal fees and foreclosure costs
- Principal deferment

SELECTING A LOSS MITIGATION PROGRAM

In the first step to determine Jose's options, Elizabeth helps Jose calculate his income and expenses, which helps to determine his surplus income, a major factor in qualification for certain FHA options. Let's take a look at the financial information Elizabeth needs and then we'll review the financial calculations used.

Basic Information

- Net monthly income = $3,000
- PITI = $900
- Expenses = $1,500

Surplus Income Percentage

Surplus income / Net income = Surplus Income Percentage

$$\frac{$600}{$3000} = 20\%$$

Arrearages

Number of mortgage payments missed x PITI = Arrearages

$$2 \times $900 = $1800$$

Forbearance Qualification Criteria Arrearages / (.85 x surplus income) = # of months for payment $$1800 \div (.85 \times $600) = 3.5$

Forbearance Qualifications Criteria

Using 85% of monthly surplus income (.85  $\times$  \$600 = \$510), Jose would be able to cure his arrearages within four months (\$1,800  $\div$  \$510 = 3.5). Because his surplus income exceeds 15% of net monthly income and 85% of surplus income is sufficient to cure their default within six months, Jose is therefore eligible only for a six-month formal forbearance.

ELIZABETH. Well, Jose, with your monthly surplus income, you would be able to catch up on your mortgage within four months.

JOSE. I am glad to know what I should expect. What about the other programs, like the Special Forbearance and FHA-HAMP?

ELIZABETH. Lenders would not be able to consider other FHA options for homeowners without a verifiable income reduction or expense increase. Also, because you can cure the default within six months, you meet the criteria for the first available option, so your lender would not continue with the process. Your priority now is to work with your servicer to come to an agreement on a Forbearance Plan.

JOSE. Oh, ok. I don't want to waste my time applying for options when I do not meet the criteria. What if the servicer will not consider me for any loss mitigation options?

ELIZABETH. In that case, we can contact the FHA National Servicing Center, which works with FHA homeowners and their lenders to find creative solutions to avoid foreclosure.

Elizabeth and Jose then begin to work on what's needed before contacting his servicer.

KNOWLEDGE CHECK 3

Which statement about the eligibility requirements of the FHA HAMP Loan Modification is false?

- A. Mortgage must be in default or imminent default but not in foreclosure.
- B. At least one borrower must have continuous income.
- C. Borrower must demonstrate minimum surplus income amount.
- D. Property must be and must remain the borrower's primary residence.

KNOWLEDGE CHECK 4

The following are benefits of different FHA loss mitigation programs. Match the program benefit with the corresponding program.

- A. Assists borrowers who do not have a verifiable loss of income or increase in living expenses.
- B. Suspends mortgage payments or allows for partial payments while borrower is unemployed.
- Can combine a loan modification and partial claim to bring the mortgage current.

NATIONAL LOAN MODIFICATION SCAM ALERT CAMPAIGN

IDENTIFYING LOAN MODIFICATION SCAMS

Often, homeowners facing foreclosure are approached by companies that claim they will get the homeowner's loan modified for them for a fee. These companies often disappear with a homeowner's money without ever contacting the servicer.

Loan modification scams were rampant during the foreclosure crisis, and many homeowners fell victim to them, putting them in an even worse financial situation. Because scammers will always be around, counselors can help clients be aware of what to look out for and where they can report suspicious activity.

When Elizabeth and Jose meet for their second appointment, Jose brings some documents that had been mailed to him that appeared to modify his mortgage with excellent new terms. Let's listen in on their session.

JOSE. A few days ago I received this loan modification approval notice in the mail. It seems too good to be true, but I really like the monthly payment that it shows.

ELIZABETH. It probably is too good to be true. Let's look at it together.

Sincerely,

ELIZABETH. Those are some great mortgage terms! But I've never heard of that company. Did you call them?

Jose. I did. I was curious. But I didn't do anything else. They said they would negotiate with my lender, and there would be some fees that I had to pay up front. They said a modification was guaranteed and that I should make all my mortgage payments to them until it is finalized.

ELIZABETH. It is good that you didn't sign up with them, because this sounds like a common scam. They would have pocketed your money and never talked to your servicer.

HUD approved Housing Counseling Agencies will never charge a fee for mortgage default counseling. Homeowners facing foreclosure do not have to pay for counseling, so this is certainly a sign of a scam.

There's a national Loan Modification Scam Alert Campaign, which suggests being wary of the following situations that could be signs of scams.

Signs of Scams

A company/person:

- Asks for a fee in advance to work with your lender to modify, refinance, or reinstate your mortgage.
- Guarantees they can stop a foreclosure or get your loan modified.
- Advises you to stop paying your mortgage company and pay them instead.
- Pressures you to sign over the deed to your home or sign any paperwork that you haven't had a chance to read and you don't fully understand.
- Claims to offer "government-approved" or "official government" loan modifications.
- Asks you to release personal financial information online or over the phone, but you do not know the company/person.
- Offers to help modify your mortgage either directly, through advertising, or by other means such as a flyer.
- Asks you to surrender the title to your home in the belief you will be able to remain in the home as renters and buy your home back over the next few years.

Jose's letter shows one example of a scam. Let's take a look at another example.

Betty, a homeowner in default on her mortgage, received a call from a company representative claiming to provide mortgage relief. The representative informed Betty that he could stop the foreclosure process by contacting her servicer to make a payment arrangement. He instructed her to stop any mortgage payments and make payments to his company instead, explaining that these funds would help with the payment negotiation. Betty agreed and was immediately relieved to see that the foreclosure process did not continue. However, when the process later began again, she learned that the representative filed bankruptcy in her name to delay foreclosure before disappearing with her money. By this point, Betty's servicer had already started the foreclosure process, and it was too late to negotiate a retention option. In addition to losing her home, the bankruptcy and foreclosure remained on her credit report for years.

JOSE. I didn't realize people were out there doing this.

ELIZABETH. It's unfortunate, and they're making money, because they target people in financial trouble and prey on them. If it's ok with you, we'll report this to a couple of federal agencies that track activities like this and take action when possible.

JOSE. Absolutely.

REPORTING LOAN MODIFICATION SCAMS

Elizabeth and Jose report the scammer by:

- 1. Calling the Homeowner's Hope Hotline at 1-888-995-HOPE (4673).
- 2. Visiting PreventLoanScams.org.
- 3. Calling the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) at 1-877-FTC-HELP (1-877-382-4357).
- 4. Calling the state's Attorney General office.
- 5. Calling the HUD Office of the Inspector General Hotline at 1-800-347-3735 since Jose has a FHA mortgage.

When they do this, they also find out the company that sent Jose the letter is already in some databases. It is good practice for counselors to help clients report scams so that action can be taken against the scammers.
